Details of this Restoration

An Antique Electronic restoration is the replacement of all paper and electrolytic capacitors in an antique television. More than 90% of the time this brings a TV back to its original or better operating condition. There are two ways I calculate a price for a n antique TV restoration. One way is $15.00 per capacitor + other parts. If it's going to cost more than $20.00 per capacitor with all the extra parts, I make $20.00 per capacitor a flat rate price, which includes almost anything and everything necessary to get your antique TV working like new or better. I call this my White Glove Service. Minimum cost of all tube type TV restorations is $75.00. Signing this form and sending a Money Order tells me that you are serious about having your Antique TV(s) restored.

Normally the turn around time to restore an antique TV from the late 40s to the mid 50s, is about two weeks. Occasionally there are "complications" and the TV needs parts beyond the paper and electrolytic capacitors, and dial lamp(s), if any. This might make your set take longer to restore. Most of the time, though, after replacing all paper and electrolytic capacitors, and making a few minor adjustments, an antique TV will operate like new or better. I will determine which way to price your restoration, and when we agree, this price will be in the invoice area above.

I do not accept PayPal, checks, or credit cards. I accept cash or US Postal Money Orders, available only at a US Post Office, only. (Do not send cash through the mail). Please make all Money Orders payable to:
